MEANING OF 'ANUPRANONA' AND ITS OBJECTIVES

The name 'Anupranona,' meaning 'inspiration' in Bengali, was suggested for the incubation cell at Rishi Bankim Chandra College for Women to embody its core mission of motivating and empowering students. This name reflects the cell's commitment to igniting creativity and entrepreneurial spirit among students. By providing a supportive environment, resources, and mentorship, Anupranona aims to inspire young women to transform their innovative ideas into successful ventures. The name was chosen to symbolize the cell's role as a catalyst for personal and professional growth, driving students toward achieving their entrepreneurial aspirations.

It was primarily created in order to :

- Foster Innovation: Encourage and support innovative ideas among students.
- Promote Entrepreneurship: Provide guidance and resources to help students start and grow their own businesses.
- Provide Mentorship: Connect students with experienced mentors from various industries.
- Facilitate Networking: Create opportunities for students to network with entrepreneurs, investors, and industry professionals.
- Enhance Skill Development: Offer workshops and training programs to build entrepreneurial skills.
- Support Market Access: Assist students in identifying and accessing potential markets for their products and services.
- Encourage Collaboration: Foster a collaborative environment that promotes knowledge sharing and teamwork.
- Ensure Sustainability: Guide students on creating sustainable and socially responsible business models.
- Monitor Progress: Track the progress of incubated ventures and provide continuous support.
- Promote Women Empowerment: Focus on empowering female students through entrepreneurship and leadership opportunities.

Thalassemia Awareness and Screening Programme

By Aastha Singh

Thalassemia is a blood disorder passed down through families (inherited) in which the body makes an abnormal form of hemoglobin.

On 25th April "Thalassemia Awareness and Screening Programme" was organized by NSS Units (I and II) of Rishi Bankim Chandra College for Women in collaboration with Thalassemia Control Unit, Calcutta School of Tropical Medicine in presence of our principal and chief patron, Dr Lana Mukhopadhyay. She delivered the welcome speech on Thalassemia Awareness, saying, "Thalassemia is a serious issue at present. Each and every one should be aware of its consequences and must take measures from initial stage. Our college has organized a thalassemia checkup camp today. I hope every student and teachers will positively participate in it." Principal Madam felicitated and honored the chief guest, Dr. Abhijit Das (President, GB, RBCCW). The participation and cooperation from the teachers and students of Rishi Bankim Chandra College for Women made the programme successful.

Rbccw Organizes "Dengue And Other Vector Borne Diseases Awareness Program"

By Sneha Saha

An awareness program on Dengue and other Vector Borne Diseases was conducted by Rishi Bankim Chandra College for Women to prevent dengue, and to make people aware of the vector borne diseases. The program was organized by the NSS UNITS (I & II) of RBCCW along with the presence of Honorable Principal Dr. Lana Mukhopadhyay and NSS program officers Dr. Tulima Dey & Prof. Moumita Biswas, with other distinguished teachers of the college who actively volunteered the program. The participation of the NSS volunteers were remarkable with other students from various departments. The program was held on 24th May, 2024. The students of the college had made many colorful social awareness handmade posters. With their handmade posters they tried to explain how people can prevent dengue and guide them to the right path of awareness. Principal, Dr. Lana Mukhopadhyay said that the new generation can help make our society clean and healthy. This program noticed the unbreakable enthusiasm of the students for the awareness of dengue. The program ended with a long rally at around 10:00 am. According to the Principal of Rishi Bankim Chandra College for Women, she organized the program to create awareness among students as well among the young generation to be aware of different vector borne diseases. She also told that as a result for this program, the students will be more responsible towards the society, and the duties of the students for the society will increase. In future she wants to organize more such social programs in the college to teach students their responsibility as members of the society.

RBCCW celebrates 163rd birth anniversary of Prafulla Chandra Ray

By Aastha Singh

Prafulla Chandra Ray was a chemist, an industrialist as well as a Bengali nationalist. He was born on 2nd August, 1861 in Bengal presidency in British India. This year on 2nd August we celebrated the 163rd birth anniversary of the scholar, Acharya Prafulla Chandra Ray at Rishi Bankim Chandra College for Women.

The event was organized by the department of Chemistry. It was graced by the presence of our Principal, Dr. Lana Mukhopadhyay. The principal of RBCCW garlanded Ray's photo. The HOD of the chemistry department along with principal paid him tribute, followed by a short speech on his contribution in the field of science and development of our country. All our countrymen are inspired by his passion for knowledge. Through his innovative work, Prafulla Chandra Ray continues to be a source of inspiration for students.

Nutrition Week observed at RBCCW

By Beauty Bhowmick

"The greatest wealth is health" That's the hearing since we all know from birth. Only, health is wealth, we have to eat nutritious food to maintain good health. In the nutrition month, an exhibition on nutritious food was organized by Food and Nutrition department of Rishi Bankim Chandra College for Women. There was excitement and joy among the students for this exhibition. Like every year, this exhibition was held on September 29. The teachers of the Nutrition department supported and helped the students in every possible way. The exhibition started at 9 am. Our Principal Madam, Dr. Lana Mukhopadhyay inaugurated the exhibition as the chief guest in presence of professors of various departments, non-teaching staffs and students.

The program was started by cutting the ribbon by the principal, thereafter she delivered a speech about Nutrition and how she herself eats nutritious food in her daily life. She said, "Breakfast should always be heavy". She tasted most of the dishes made by the students and appreciated their efforts and talents. There were various healthy food items like- Dahi Vada, Polao, Chicken, steamed and baked dishes along with varieties of nutritious sweets dishes. The students talked about their cooking experience and explained the nutritional values of their cooked dishes. All the items were produced, exhibited and sold in a hygienic way.

The exhibition lasted until 12 noon. Nutritious food is definitely necessary to maintain good health, but sometimes the delicious junk food make us happy which might lack nutritious value. So, we should try those delicious food to be made at home. Food gives the taste of life, so we should try to keep our body healthy by eating healthy food. The students of Rishi Bankim Chandra College for Women literally put it through their paces and ended the exhibition in a healthy way hopefully every year students can make that day nutritious. The main aim of the exhibition was to create a nutritious society for all.

Celebrating WORLD ENVIRONMENT DAY

By Mohana Nath

On 6th June, 2024 "WORLD ENVIRONMENT DAY" was celebrated in Rishi Bankim Chandra College for Women with the collaboration of IQAC, NSS & NCC in the presence of respected Principal, Dr. Lana Mukhopadhyay and all distinguished teachers of the college.

The principal delivered a welcome speech on the current status of the environmental situation and the needs of environmental awareness. She asked the students to take a vow "Not to Pollute the Environment". The principal together with the students and teachers planted saplings around the campus, to show respect and responsibility for the Mother Earth. She also reminded everyone the theme slogan of World Environment Day, 2024 "OUR LAND OUR FUTURE WE ARE GENERATION RESTORATION". The IQAC, NSS and NCC organized a rally with visual and attractive posters and tifos to raise awareness about the importance of environment and the need to protect it. Students from all the departments took oath to protect the greenery around the college campus and beyond to show responsibility towards the Mother Earth.

Some of the teachers beautifully delivered speeches regarding protection of environment and informed on the first environmental day celebration that was held in 1973 and also gave a brief knowledge about it. Thus, the program ended successfully with a hope of getting a better and green environment in the future days.
