

INTERNATIONAL LANGUAGE DAY:

Rishi Bankim Chandra College for Women celebrates International Language Day annually on February 21st, promoting linguistic diversity and cultural heritage. This vibrant event underscores the importance of preserving and respecting different languages.

The day begins with a formal inauguration by the principal, who emphasizes the significance of multilingualism in fostering global understanding and unity. Various departments collaborate to organize a series of activities that showcase the richness of languages spoken by the college community.

Students participate in poetry recitations, storytelling sessions, and multilingual speeches, presenting works in languages such as Bengali, Hindi, English, and others. Cultural performances, including songs and dances, highlight the traditions associated with these languages.

Workshops and interactive sessions on translation, language learning techniques, and the benefits of bilingualism are conducted by language experts. Additionally, exhibitions display literary works and artifacts from different linguistic backgrounds.

The celebration of International Language Day at Rishi Bankim Chandra College for Women not only enhances students' appreciation for linguistic diversity but also encourages the preservation of their cultural identities.
